PROPOSAL FOR SIGN-OFF · FROM THE UX AUDIT (U3, I3)

Unibexs Status Naming

One name for each application status, what it means, and whose turn it is. Today the same status shows up under several names, and some internal names reach users. This sheet proposes one set of words for the whole portal.

Status Draft, not applied in the app Date 11 Nov 2026

Decide first: seven word choices

Each card shows the words in use today and a recommendation. Counts are rough, from the UI code. Once these are agreed, the status names below follow from them.

The person who applies for students

Advisor adviser Partner

Advisor. Used about 323 times against about 25 for "adviser". "Partner" stays in code only; today it leaks into labels such as “Partner Commission Invoicing”.

Where the student studies

Institution University

Institution in labels, since it covers colleges too. Keep "university" for real names ("Asia Pacific University"). Both are heavily used today (about 151 and 219).

What the student applies to programme program

Programme, the Malaysian and British spelling. Forms already say "Programme" while menus say "Programs".

Starting at an institution

enrolment enrollment

Enrolment, to match "programme". Today only "Enrollment" appears.

"It's your turn" on a tag

Action needed Action required

Action flagged Your move

The button that starts an application

New application Create application

Start application

Action needed, already the most used (about 20). Notifications' "Action required" filter becomes "Action needed".

New application, which matches the form's own title.

Capitals in buttons and labels

Save changes `Save Changes`

Sentence case everywhere: only the first word and names take a capital. Already the majority (19 against 4).

Whose turn: six statuses to settle

The "Action needed" tag, the Advisor Home queue and the Advisor's notifications all follow one rule in the code (`isAdvisorAction`). For these six statuses, that rule and the status's own next-step text disagree about whose turn it is. Product needs to choose; the rule then gets updated to match.

STATUS	NEXT STEP IT SHOWS THE ADVISOR	RULE TODAY	RECOMMENDATION
Commission Ready	Wait for the commission payout	Advisor's turn	Unibexs's turn Finance pays; the Advisor just waits.
University Approved	Review and accept the offer letter	Not flagged	Advisor's turn Nothing moves until the offer is accepted.
Visa Issued	Confirm the student's arrival date	Not flagged	Advisor's turn Or skip straight to "Arrival date to confirm".
Commission Paid	Confirm you received the commission	Not flagged	Advisor's turn The application can't close until they confirm.
Dispute Response Received	Confirm the corrected commission	Not flagged	Advisor's turn

Institution Requested Corrections notification name only	Upload what the institution asked for	Advisor's turn (wording added in v3)	Keep Confirm the backend status behind it.

Writing rules for status names

1. Say what's happening, from the user's side. "With the institution", not "Submitted to Institution".
2. When it's the Advisor's turn, name the task. "Visa fee to pay", "E-visa to upload". The "Action needed" tag sits next to it.
3. When someone else acts, say who. "In review by Unibexs", "With the institution".
4. No system names. No "Partner", no "Eval", no "by Account Manager" in a label.
5. Three to five words, sentence case. The longer explanation goes in the next-step line under the label.
6. One name per status everywhere: tags, lists, notifications, emails and exports.

Stages

Today each stage has up to four names: the backend name, the coloured stage tag, the notification stage and the tracker step. The proposal keeps one name per stage, used everywhere.
